Socioeconomic Traits

Primarily in coastal suburbs, these affluent, educated families—often with young children—work in professional fields. Many own high-value homes, earn additional investment income, and have strong net worth and retirement savings.

Socioeconomic Traits

These affluent urban professionals, often highly educated and unmarried, live in dense metros and work in high-paying fields. They typically rent in high-rises, often work remotely, and face high housing costs.

Socioeconomic Traits

Concentrated in New England, Mid-Atlantic, and Pacific suburbs, these affluent, educated married couples often have children in private schools. Many are executives or business owners, with high net worth and single-family homes.
