Socioeconomic Traits Located in Southern and Midwestern suburbs, these neighborhoods have middle-income, full-time working households. Affordable homes built mid-century dominate. Solo commutes are common, and daytime populations exceed the number of local workers.	Socioeconomic Traits Concentrated in New England and Mid-Atlantic suburbs, these mostly owner-occupied, single-family homes house professional families with children. Combined incomes and investments place households in middle to upper tiers with high net worth.	Socioeconomic Traits These metro-area neighborhoods house adults under 54, often with older children at home. Residents rent modest homes, work in service sectors, and commute by car or public transit, especially women in the workforce.
